

GEORGIA AND U.S. CONSTITUTIONAL LAW REGARDING MISDEMEANOR PROBATION

— A Bench Card for Judges —

This bench card is designed to provide judges with guidance on the relevant legal principles regarding misdemeanor probation, including first offenders placed on misdemeanor probation under Article 6 of Title 42, Chapter 8. It focuses in particular on how to address the situation of indigent misdemeanor defendants and probationers and contains information about recent changes to Georgia law under S.B. 367 (2016) and H.B. 310 (2015).

KEY CONSIDERATIONS

CONSTITUTIONAL REQUIREMENTS BEFORE IMPOSING OR REVOKING PROBATION

- Before being placed on probation, a defendant is entitled to the assistance of counsel absent a proper waiver. Alabama v. Shelton, 535 U.S. 654, 658 (2002).
- When revoking probation, a court must find that the probationer has willfully violated probation conditions. Failure to comply is not willful if the probationer lacks notice of a condition. Douglas v. Buder, 412 U.S. 430, 432 (1973) (per curiam).
- Failure to comply is not willful if the probationer lacks the ability to comply. Bearden v. Georgia, 461 U.S. 660, 672-73 (1983). A probationer may not be imprisoned for failing to pay fines, fees, or restitution if the court has not inquired into the reasons for failure to pay. If the failure to pay is not willful, the court must consider alternative conditions rather than imprisonment. Id.
- In revocation proceedings, the probationer must be informed of the right to request counsel. Gagnon v. Scarpelli, 411 U.S. 778, 790 (1973). If counsel is denied, the reasons must be stated in the record. Id.

GEORGIA LAW REGARDING INDIGENT DEFENDANTS AND DEFENDANTS WITH A "SIGNIFICANT FINANCIAL HARDSHIP"

- If the defendant is unable to pay or demonstrates a significant financial hardship, either before or after sentencing, the court must:
 - Waive the fine, surcharges, or fees;
 - Reduce the fine, surcharges, or fees to an amount that the defendant can pay; and/or
 - Convert the fine, surcharges, or fees to community service. O.C.G.A. § 42-8-102(e).
- Notably, Georgia law now defines significant financial hardship as occurring where there is a reasonable probability that the defendant will be unable to satisfy his or her financial obligations for two or more consecutive months. O.C.G.A. § 42-8-102(e)(1)(c). A significant financial hardship is presumed where the defendant:
 - Has a developmental disability under O.C.G.A. § 37-1-1;
 - Is totally and permanently disabled under O.C.G.A. § 49-4-80;
 - Earns less than 100% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines;
 - Has been released from confinement within the past 12 months and was incarcerated for more than 30 days before release.

SETTING FINES AND FEES IN MISDEMEANOR PROBATION CASES

INQUIRING INTO ABILITY TO PAY AND SIGNIFICANT FINANCIAL HARDSHIP, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-102(e)

At sentencing, the court must determine whether fines, surcharges, or probation supervision fees that the court would otherwise impose would be impossible for the defendant to pay or would create a significant financial hardship. See above.

CONVERTING FINES & FEES TO COMMUNITY SERVICE, O.C.G.A. §§ 17-10-1(d), 42-8-102(d)

The court may convert fines, surcharges, or probation supervision fees to community service. The number of service hours is determined by dividing the fine, surcharges, or fees by an appropriate hourly wage, which must be at least the minimum wage under the federal Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, 29 U.S.C. § 206 (currently $7.25), but may be higher at the court's discretion.

SETTING FINES, FEES, AND RESTITUTION, O.C.G.A. §§ 17-14-10(a), 17-14-7, 42-8-102(c)

If fines, restitution, or probation supervision fees are imposed, the amount should be adjusted to the defendant's circumstances, including:

- The defendant's financial resources and income;
- The defendant's financial obligations and dependents;
- The length of the defendant's probation sentence;
- The goals of deterrence, retribution, and rehabilitation;
- Any other factor the court deems appropriate to consider. If restitution is imposed, the court must consider, in addition to the above factors, the amount of damages and any restitution previously made. If the amount of restitution is contested, the court must hold a hearing at which the burden is on the State to establish the amount of the victim's loss, and the burden is on the defendant to establish hardships justifying a reduction in the restitution amount.

WHAT THE COURT SHOULD TELL MISDEMEANOR DEFENDANTS OR PROBATIONERS

When a misdemeanor defendant or probationer appears before the court for any reason, the court should advise the person that he or she:

- May request counsel at sentencing or revocation (Alabama v. Shelton, 535 U.S. 654, 658 (2002) (sentencing); Gagnon v. Scarpelli, 411 U.S. 778, 790 (1973) (revocation));
- May request community service or other probation modifications to avoid hardships (O.C.G.A. § 42-8-102(d)-(e));
- Must continue to report even if unable to pay (O.C.G.A. § 42-8-102(f)(4)(A));
- Will be subject to tolling if he or she fails to report (O.C.G.A. § 42-8-105(b)).

SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS FOR PAY-ONLY PROBATION

LIMITS ON PAY-ONLY PROBATION, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-103(a), (c)

If a defendant is placed on supervised probation solely due to inability to immediately pay fines and surcharges, total probation supervision fees may not exceed three months' worth of the fees ordinarily collected. The collection of probation supervision fees must end when fines and surcharges are paid in full. If fines and surcharges are converted to community service, a probation officer may petition for probation fees under O.C.G.A. § 42-8-103(c).

EARLY TERMINATION BY PROBATION OFFICER'S MOTION, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-103(b)

When all fines and surcharges are paid, the probation officer shall submit an order terminating probation within thirty days. The court shall terminate the probated sentence or issue an order stating why the sentence shall continue.

EARLY TERMINATION BY DEFENDANT'S MOTION, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-103(d)

The court may terminate supervision upon the defendant's motion when "it is satisfied that its action would be in the best interest of justice and the welfare of society."

PROBATION REVOCATION

APPOINTMENT OF COUNSEL

- Prior to revocation hearing, the court should make the probationer aware of the opportunity to request appointed counsel; however, there is no categorical Sixth Amendment right to appointment of counsel in probation revocation proceedings, only a more limited due process right, determined on a case-by-case basis where fundamental fairness requires it. Gagnon v. Scarpelli, 411 U.S. 778, 790 (1973).
- In determining whether due process demands the appointment of counsel, the court should consider whether "the probationer makes such a request based on a timely and colorable claim (i) that he has not committed the alleged violation of the conditions upon which he is at liberty; or (ii) that, even if the violation is a matter of public record or is uncontested, there are substantial reasons which justified or mitigated the violation and make revocation inappropriate, and that the reasons are complex or otherwise difficult to develop or present." The court "also should consider, especially in doubtful cases, whether the probationer appears to be capable of speaking effectively for himself." Gagnon v. Scarpelli, 411 U.S. 778, 790-791 (1973).
- In every case in which a request for counsel is refused, the grounds for refusal should be stated in the record. Gagnon v. Scarpelli, 411 U.S. 778, 791 (1973).

REVOCATION GENERALLY, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-102(f)(4)

If the court determines that the probationer has violated probation by failing to report, make court-imposed payments, or comply with any general probation condition, the court must consider alternatives to confinement, including:

- Community service;
- Modification of probation conditions to facilitate the probationer's good-faith efforts to comply (in the case of failure to report or failure to pay);
- Any other alternative deemed appropriate.

NOTE: Different penalties and notice requirements may apply to the imposition and revocation of special conditions of probation. See Hill v. State, 270 Ga. App. 114 (2004); O.C.G.A. § 42-8-34.1(e).

CONCURRENT VS. CONSECUTIVE SENTENCES

When a probationer is before the court on multiple sentences, the court must consider those sentences to run concurrently unless it is expressly indicated that the sentences are to be served consecutively. OCGA 17-10-10(a); Rooney v. State 287 GA. 1 (2010)

NEGATING FINES, SURCHARGES, AND FEES, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-105(f)

If the entire balance of probation is revoked, all the conditions of probation, including moneys owed, shall be negated by a defendant's imprisonment. If only part of the balance is revoked, the court shall determine the probationer's responsibility for the amount of unpaid sums and may reduce arrearages considering probationer's ability to pay.

REVOKING FOR FAILURE TO PAY, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-102(f)(2)(A)

If the sole basis for a probation revocation is failure to pay fines, surcharges, or probation supervision fees, the court shall not issue a prehearing arrest warrant and shall schedule an appearance on the next available court calendar for a hearing. A warrant may be issued if the probationer fails to appear for this hearing.

In cases of failure to pay, the court must inquire into the probationer's ability to pay, and make express written findings that:

- The failure to pay was willful and the probationer has not made sufficient efforts to pay; or
- Adequate alternative punishments do not exist.

If the court determines that imprisonment is necessary and permissible, it may revoke the balance of probation or up to 120 days, whichever is less.

REVOKING FOR FAILURE TO REPORT TO PROBATION, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-102(f)(3)(A)

If the sole basis for revocation is failure to report to probation, the probation officer must submit an affidavit describing efforts to contact the probationer and swearing that the probationer has failed to report. The affidavit must show that:

- The probationer has failed to report twice;
- The officer has tried to contact the probationer twice at a last-known telephone number or e-mail address shown in the affidavit;
- The officer has checked local jails and determined that the probationer is not incarcerated;
- The officer has sent a letter by first-class mail to a last-known address shown in the affidavit, warning the probationer that a tolling order would be sought if the probationer failed to report in person within ten days. (If a probationer reports within the ten day period, the probationer may be scheduled to appear on the next available court calendar for a revocation hearing.); and
- The probationer failed to report as directed in the letter.

The probation officer may submit this affidavit along with a request for prehearing arrest warrant, although the court has discretion to issue the prehearing arrest warrant or decline to do so.

If the court determines that imprisonment is necessary and permissible, it may revoke the balance of probation or up to 120 days, whichever is less.

TOLLING

TOLLING PROBATION SENTENCES, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-105(b)

Before a sentence is tolled, the probation officer must submit an affidavit describing efforts to contact the probationer and swearing that the probationer has failed to appear in court for a revocation hearing or failed to report to the assigned probation officer. If tolling is based solely on failure to report to probation, the affidavit must show that:

- The probationer has failed to report twice;
- The officer has tried to contact the probationer twice at a last-known telephone number or e-mail address shown in the affidavit;
- The officer has checked local jails and determined that the probationer is not incarcerated; and
- The officer has sent a letter by first-class mail to a last-known address shown in the affidavit, warning the probationer that a tolling order would be sought if the probationer failed to report in person within ten days, and the probationer failed to report as directed in the letter.

CALCULATING THE TOLLING PERIOD, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-105(b), (d)

The tolling period begins when the court enters a tolling order supported by a valid affidavit. The clerk of court must send a copy of the tolling order to the Georgia Crime Information Center within thirty days of when the order is filed. Tolling ends, and the sentence begins to run again, when the probationer reports to the probation officer, is taken into custody in this state, or is otherwise available to the court.

NOTE REGARDING PROBATION SENTENCES IMPOSED PRIOR TO JULY 1, 2015:

Statutory authority to toll misdemeanor probation sentences did not exist prior to this date, but common law principles authorized tolling in some situations. For probation sentences imposed prior to that date, the Supreme Court of Georgia has found that under the common law "mere failure of a defendant to abide by the terms of a misdemeanor sentence will not alone toll that sentence; instead, tolling requires a judicial determination of a violation sufficiently serious that the defendant was not serving the sentence imposed and of the time when that violation occurred." Anderson v. Sentinel Offender Services, 298 Ga. 854, 857 n. 3 (2016).

TERMINATING AND MODIFYING PROBATION SUPERVISION

TERMINATING OR REDUCING PROBATION SENTENCES, O.C.G.A. §§ 17-10-1(a)(5)(A); 42-8-102(f)(1), (3)

The court may reduce or terminate the sentence at any time if it finds that probation is no longer appropriate for the ends of justice, protection of society, and rehabilitation of the probationer. A probationer who is eligible for modification or termination of probation does not become ineligible solely due to failure to pay fines, surcharges, or supervision fees.

EARLY TERMINATION OF CONSECUTIVE SENTENCES BY DEFENDANT'S MOTION, O.C.G.A. §§ 42-8-103.1(a); 42-8-60(e)(2)

If a defendant is serving consecutive misdemeanor probation sentences, the court may terminate supervision upon the defendant's motion when "it is satisfied that its action would be in the best interest of justice and the welfare of society." The defendant may file the motion 12 months after sentencing and every four months thereafter. This provision also applies to defendants placed on first offender probation.

EARLY TERMINATION OF CONSECUTIVE SENTENCES BY PROBATION OFFICER'S MOTION, O.C.G.A. §§ 42-8-103.1(b); 42-8-60(e)(2)

If a defendant is serving consecutive misdemeanor probation sentences, the probation officer is required to review the case after 12 months of supervision. If the defendant has paid court-ordered fines, surcharges, and restitution, and completed court-ordered testing, evaluation, or rehabilitation, the probation officer may submit an order for early termination. After 12 months of supervision, the officer shall review the file every four months to determine if early termination is warranted. This provision also applies to defendants placed on first offender probation.

TERMINATING FIRST OFFENDER PROBATION, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-60(e)(1)

A defendant sentenced to first offender probation pursuant to the First Offender Act "shall be exonerated of guilt and shall stand discharged as a matter of law," when the defendant completes the terms of his or her probation, including the time of the probation sentence as long as it is not tolled or suspended.

MODIFYING TERMS OF A PROBATION SENTENCE, O.C.G.A. § 42-8-34(g); 17-10-1(a)(5)(A)

At any time during a probation sentence, "[t]he judge is empowered to...in any manner deemed advisable by the judge, modify or change the probated sentence," as long as the modification is not punishment. Stephens v. State 289 Ga. 758 (2011). Examples of permissible modifications include, but are not limited to:

- Making the probation non-reporting;
- Modifying a probation requirement for "no violent contact" with victim to "no contact." Bell v. State 323 Ga. App. 751 (2013);
- Adding requirement to stay away from victims' neighborhood. Tyson v. State, 301 Ga. App. 295 (2009);
- Require appropriate counseling for the defendant. Gould v. Patterson, 253 Ga.App. 603 (2002).
